Nebraska Advantage Programs

The Nebraska Advantage Act, the Nebraska Advantage Rural Development Act, and the Nebraska Advantage Microenterprise Tax Credit Act require a taxpayer to file an application to describe a project and to request participation in the incentive program. The applications and application guides include the requirement that the work eligibility of all newly-hired employees in Nebraska must be verified. For applications filed on or after October 1, 2009, the taxpayer is required to provide proof of registration for E-Verify, the federal electronic verification program. In some cases, the application date was delayed until the applicant documented the registration process.

The utilization of the E-Verify program for new employees has been confirmed for qualified projects with an application date on or after October 1, 2009. The Department audits the use of the E-Verify program and the eligibility of the newly-hired Nebraska employees when each project attains the minimum required levels of investment and employment necessary for benefits. In the qualification audits, the audit testing confirmed that no benefits were allowed for employees that were not properly verified. Corrections were made for subsequent years for employees which were not timely verified.

The Nebraska Department of Revenue's (Department's) website notifies taxpayers planning to claim the Nebraska Advantage Research and Development Credit of the requirement to use E-Verify to confirm the work eligibility of all newly-hired employees employed in Nebraska.

The Research Tax Credit Worksheet, Form 3800N Worksheet RD, includes several questions asking claimants to confirm that they are using E-Verify for newly-hired employees. The utilization of the E-Verify program for new employees is not confirmed at the time the return is processed. The Department audits this process after returns claiming the credit have been processed.
